HOMELESSNESS PREVENTION HOUSING & IMMIGRATION SERVICES

Services and financial data for July 2017 through June 2018

ABOUT

Catholic Charities Homelessness Prevention services provides eviction prevention support in the form of rental assistance for back rent, security deposits, information and referral to appropriate community agencies. Catholic Charities is a lead agency in the Family Eviction Prevention Collaborative (FEPCO) of San Francisco, which represents a cohesive community of service providers that streamline the rental assistance intake process for low-income, at-risk families and individuals in San Francisco. Last year, HPP paid a total of $1,033,480.19 for back rent and security deposits. Clients contributed 28% of this total, demonstrating their commitment to self-sufficiency.

Through the program, clients may receive assistance in obtaining information, security deposits, and referrals as well as aid in developing payment and budget plans.

Preventing homelessness is significantly less expensive than providing emergency shelter or transitional housing to a family who is homeless.
